Infrastructure & Facilities

The site is located northeast to Ahmedabad, in a village named Lavad, near Dahegam, Gandhinagar. The new world class residential campus of RSU has various facilities and architectural innovations to support the student and staff members. One of the major features of the new campus is the amalgamation of the boundary wall with physical training activities. Outdoor training facilities are dispersed to the peripheral zones of the site. The housing typology for both faculty houses and the students hostels are developed upon the principles of courtyard housing. The faculty houses and the girls' hostel are to the south-west corner of the quadrangle and the boys hostels to the south-east corner. The residences for students are envisioned as not just hostels with long corridors but rather as homes, shared by 25-30 people. These courtyard homes are put together forming a hierarchy of communities. The campus boasts of an impressive administrative block flanked by an open community space called the 'Shakti – Sthal'. Just behind the administrative block are the academic blocks, which houses the class-rooms, laboratories, faculty offices and work stations. A 250 capacity Auditorium next to the administrative block has also been constructed. The grand porch has the stairways which connects the ground floor to the first floor of the administrative building, providing a spectacular view from the main gate of the campus. There are huge water bodies, preserving the greenery of the eco system, which add value to the overall ambience.
